Article Publication

Samuel Johnson

Congratulations to Sam, whose article "Documentary of (De)Colonization: Ex-Pajé (2018) as Border-Filmmaking and Paiter Suruí Re-existence," has been accepted for publication in the Journal of Lusophone Studies.

Fellowship

Marcia Fanti Negri

Congratulations to Marcia, who has been selected as a UMIA/LAS Distinguished Graduate Fellow for the 2022-2023 academic year. This fellowship is an initiative from The University of Miami Institute for Advanced Study of the Americas (UMIA) and the College of Arts and Sciences' Latin American Studies program (LAS) since 2015. UMIA's fellows engage in the intellectual life of the institute and work on their own degree programs and dissertation projects, fostering interdisciplinary exchange among doctoral students university-wide, and support for UMIA and LAS programming.

Conference Presentation Award

Yasamin Rezaei

Congratulations to Yasamin, who was the Oral Presentation Winner of the University of Miami's Fourth Annual Graduate and Postdoctoral Research Symposium in the Arts and Humanities Category. The work presented was a collaborative project with another PhD student at University of Maryland. The title is "Twitter Data Analysis on #metoo in Iran".

Symposium Presentation

Gabriel das Chagas Alves Pereira Souza

Congratulations to Gabriel for presenting his paper, "Racial Segregation and the American Lynching Culture in The ways of white folks by Langston Hughes" at the 2022 Graduate and Postdoctoral Research Symposium held this past Friday, April 1, 2022.
